

Introducing Cheltenham Caravan - "Ruby"

Overview of features and condition

Our beach hut caravan is a Cheltenham Fawn 2 berth 1960's caravan.

She is vintage and has been located in the garden of our home in Salcombe since August 2011 when she was purchased. At that point the caravan had undergone a full respray, new electrics, 240v hookup and a 12v leisure battery had been fitted. Cooler, stove and heaters are included. The brakes and wheel bearings had been serviced and the chassis had been overhauled and shulzed for waterproof protection. Pine flooring is fitted inside the van. She has been used over the years as an extra bedroom at times and a great escape for children to play in.

Current Condition

The caravan has remained watertight and during the winter months has been covered - caravan cover included. The ceiling paint is flaking off now in patches which can be seen in the pictures. The seating is all in great condition, however the fitted units that house the cooler are a little warped. The frame from the doorway on the inside of the caravan came off last month although we do still have it. The outside condition is generally good but has flaked in a couple of patches which you can see from the pictures below.

Collection

There is access via a lane at the back of the house and we are happy to help facilitate getting the caravan out onto either a truck or to attach to a tow bar.

Reasonable offers for Ruby will be considered, we would love someone to bring her back to her former glory and get as much fun out of her as we have had .
